

The Proclamation of King Charles III

The basis on which our monarchy is built, has ensured that through the centuries, the Crown has passed in an unbroken line of succession. The Accession Council met in the State Apartments of St. James's Palace, London, to proclaim our new Sovereign in London on 10th September 2022. This marks the formal Proclamation to the people of the United Kingdom, of the beginning of our new King's reign. The Proclamation was read by Garter King of Arms, accompanied by the Earl Marshal, other Officers of Arms and the Sergeant's at Arms.

The flags which had flown at half-mast since The Queen's death were raised briefly to their full height to mark the start of His Majesty King Charles III's reign.

The Accession Council also made an Order requiring High Sheriffs to cause the Proclamation to be read in the areas of their jurisdiction. The proclamation of the new Sovereign is a very old tradition which can be traced back over many centuries. The ceremony does not create a new King. It is simply an announcement of the accession which took place immediately on the death of the reigning monarch.

In an age where modern methods of communication convey news around the globe in an instant, the proclamation is no longer the means by which people learn for the first time that they have a new Monarch.

This is one of the first occasions when communities have an opportunity to come together and reflect on this moment in our nation's history, when the reign of our longest-serving Monarch came to an end and our new Sovereign succeeded.

The Mayors of the Market Towns within each County are presented with copies of the proclamation, so that they may then read the Proclamation to the people in their individual towns. In Suffolk this was undertaken in Ipswich town centre on Sunday 11th September 2022 at 1pm.

Then the Mayors of the 23 Market Towns in Suffolk returned to their own town to read the same proclamation at 3.30pm. In Southwold, the Chairman of the Council, Cllr Will Windell read the Proclamation from the Market Place.

Following the Proclamation, the National Anthem was sung, before a call for Three Cheers for The King.

A copy of the proclamation will be displayed on noticeboards and websites with a copy placed within the minute book of the Council.
